Areas of Interest / Specialization

Bioprocess Engineering, Recombinant protein expression in different heterologous system, Yeast Cell Surface Display Technology.

“Over the years in this wonderful world of investigation, I have gained extensive experience in the area of molecular biology and bioprocess engineering. This expertise over two disparate fields has helped me immensely to establish an independent research programme. In recombinant gene expression, it is always critical to understanding and solving the various bottlenecks that arise during protein production in various heterologous systems, such as E. coli, various Yeasts and Mammalian cells. Since I also work with therapeutically important recombinant proteins such as cytokines thus find natural use in industry. During past 12 years I have been working for the cloning, expression and optimization of various therapeutically important biomolecules at large scale using bioprocess optimization strategies. Few of the technologies developed during this journey at various places have been successfully transferred to industry for commercial exploitation.”

Subjects Taught

Industrial and food microbiology, Microbial physiology and metabolism, Diversity of Prokaryotic and eukaryotic microbes, Plant Pathogen Interaction
